

Klaus Segbers

1954	Born in Dortmund/Westfalia (Germany)
1973	High School graduation, Stadtgymnasium Dortmund (Abitur)
1973/74	Alternative civil service in a psychiatric hospital
1974-1979	Studies in History, Slavic languages, political science and philosophy at universities in Bochum and Konstanz, M.A. and Staatsexamen Sekundarstufe II (highschool)
1980-84	Ph.D. (Dr. phil.) with a study on the USSR during the Second World War, University of Bremen
1981/82	Research grants for research stays in the US and the USSR
1985-88	Research fellow at a project on Soviet reform politics (1945-1988), University of Bremen
1988-90	Research fellow, JWG-University Frankfurt am Main
1990-1995	Research fellow at the Foundation for Science and Politics (Stiftung Wissenschaft und Politik - SWP) at Ebenhausen
1992	Habilitation (Book on Systemic change in the Soviet Union)
since 1994	Head of Department for East European Politics at SWP
1994/95	Director of research project on Post-Soviet Puzzles (spaces, territories, elites and interests in the FSU), funded by Körber Foundation, executed at SWP
1995/96	Professor for International Relations, University of Konstanz
1996, since May	1996 Professor for Political Science and East European Politics at Osteuropa-Institut and Department of Political Science, Freie Universität Berlin
1998-2000	Director of research project on Explaining Post-Soviet Patchworks, funded by Volkswagen Foundation, implemented at FUB
Dec. 1999 - Feb. 2000	Guest scholar, Stanford University, CISAC
2002-2004	Director of research project on Global City Regions' Governance, funded by Volkswagen Foundation, implemented at FUB
2002-	Director, Program East European Studies Online, organized at FUB
November 2003	Guest scholar, George Washington University, Elliott School, IERES
Jan.-Feb. 2004	Guest scholar, Stanford University, CREEES
Continuing	Lectures at Departments of Columbia, George Washington, Harvard, Stanford, Oxford Universities, MGIMO (Moscow), HSE